

Federation of American Hospitals 2024/2025 Health Policy Fellowship

The Health Policy Fellowship at the FAH offers an invaluable opportunity for recent graduates or graduate level students to immerse themselves in the field of health policy. As a health policy fellow, you will be at the forefront of shaping national health policy impacting America's hospitals and health systems. The health policy fellow serves as a central figure connecting FAH's three key teams – Policy, Public Relations, and Government Affairs – with opportunities to contribute to policy analysis, assist in communications efforts, and provide support for government affairs activities. This unique opportunity is based in the heart of Washington, D.C., placing fellows in the epicenter of health care policy discussions and decision-making.

Responsibilities include:

- Collaborate with FAH's policy experts to track, analyze, and contribute to the development of health policy related to Medicare, Medicaid, private insurance, hospitals, and post-acute care
- Perform policy and regulatory research to further FAH's advocacy efforts and build informational resources
- Perform government-affairs related research, including summarizing legislation, tracking current events, drafting memos, and developing briefing information about policy issues
- Engage with members and consultants to evaluate impact of policies and regulations on hospitals
- Develop written content including drafting sections of public letters, member communications, informational materials, as well as assisting with the management and content creation for newsletters and social media

Required Qualifications:

- Currently pursuing or recently completed a master's degree in public health, public policy, or other related majors
- Demonstrates a keen interest in health policy and displays significant academic achievement
- Full COVID-19 vaccination is an essential requirement of this role.
- Be available 40 hours per week between June 2024 through May 2025

This is a full-time, temporary position located on-site in Washington, DC with a remote option on Fridays. The 1-year position will be paid $28 per hour.

Candidates with a diverse set of experiences and backgrounds are encouraged to apply.

Interested parties should submit a resume to Lisa Harrison, VP, Administrative Services, by electronic mail to lharrison@fah.org.
